If a man knew he was going to be hanged, he would certainly make every effort to prevent it. He would do everything he could to the last minute to get himself out of his predicament. Men have been saved from hanging after the rope was around their necks. There are ways of dying that are not so quick that are even more certain. The man who neglects his health and who in sickness refuses to take medicine, really has the rope of disease around his neck. He will die if he doesn't throw it off. A man who would struggle against hanging may yet be careless about his health. He may be traveling straight toward consumption and pay no attention to it, and yet death by consumption is much more terrible than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure 95 per cent. of all cases of consumption. Consumption is likely to be caused by weakness. It is in its turn it increases the weakness. The "Golden Medical Discovery" is an invigorating, strengthening and flesh-forming medicine. It increases the appetite, purifies the blood, enriches the blood, and builds up firm, healthy flesh.

CROWNING OF THE CZAR.

Here in brief is the programme of the Russian coronation ceremony and festival. The uncrowned Czar and Czarina for the past few days have been staying at Petrovsky palace, near Moscow. To-day (May 21) their majesties made their formal entry into the city. After attending a "Te Deum" at the Uspensky Cathedral the emperor and empress visited the Archangel and Blagovestchensk cathedrals, where they venerated the relics and icons and offered up prayers at the tombs of their imperial ancestors. Later the emperor and empress proceeded to the Alexandrinsky palace, near Moscow, where they will stay until May 25. On May 22 and 23 the Czar and Czarina will receive the congratulations of the foreign ambassadors in the throne room of the grand Kremlin palace. On May 23, 24 and 25 the date of the coronation will be formally proclaimed by heralds to the people. From May 23 to the 26th the emperor and empress will perform their devotions. On May 24 there will be a review of the Ismailovsky regiments and of the battalion of sappers, to be followed by the consecration of the imperial flag at the Novaya Orujelnaja palace, within the Kremlin. On May 25 the regalia will be solemnly transferred to the throne room, and on the same day their majesties will proceed from the Alexandrinsky palace to the grand Kremlin palace. In the evening a special mass will be celebrated in all the churches. On May 26 the chief event, the coronation, will take place, and will be followed by a grand fete in the Granovitskaya palace. On May 27, 28 and 29 their majesties will receive congratulations at the Kremlin palace. On May 27 a state dinner will be given in the same palace, to which the ecclesiastics of high rank and the chief officials will be invited. On May 28 and 29 Moscow will be illuminated on a grand scale, and the emperor and empress will drive through the streets to witness the display. A reception will be held in the Kremlin palace on May 28. On May 28 the regalia will be again transferred from the throne-room to the Orujelnaja palace. There will also be a gala performance at the Grand Theatre. On May 30 there will be a popular fete on the Hadysky square and a ball will be given by the Comte de Montebello, the French Ambassador. On May 31 the foreign envoys will be entertained at dinner at the imperial palace and in the evening Prince Liechtenstein, the Austro-Hungarian Ambassador, will give a ball. A solemn service will be held on June 1 in the Tshodovo Convent. In the evening there will be a ball given by the Grand Duke Sergius, the Governor General. On June 2 the nobility of Moscow will give a ball in honor of the emperor and empress. Earlier in the day their majesties will make a pilgrimage to the Troitsa Convent. On June 4 a ball will be given by their majesties in the Alexander room of the Kremlin palace. It will be followed on the next day by a concert at the residence of Prince Radolin, the German Ambassador. On June 6, the czar's birthday, the emperor and empress will proceed in state to the Uspensky Cathedral and later in the day a dinner will be given in honor of the diplomatic body. On June 7 there will be a grand review of the troops in garrison at Moscow, and a dinner at the palace, to which the principal administrative authorities of the city will be invited. Their majesties will leave Moscow the same evening. The preparations for the coronation have been made on an imperial scale. All the streets of Moscow will be decorated with flags bearing the initials of the emperor and empress and the arms of Moscow. Immense vases of flowers, will be placed at intervals along the route of the procession. The coronation will be witnessed by a vast concourse of people. The emperor and empress will be crowned by the Patriarch of Moscow. The ceremony will be a grand and magnificent one.

On May 23 to the 26th the emperor and empress will perform their devotions. On May 24 there will be a review of the Ismailovsky regiments and of the battalion of sappers, to be followed by the consecration of the imperial flag at the Novaya Orujelnaja palace, within the Kremlin.
